

VARIETIES

Werktitel: VARIETIES

Untertitel:

Für zwei Solostimmen und großen gemischten Chor, experimentelle Konzeptkomposition

KomponistIn: Palme Pia

Beteiligte Personen (Text): Reyer Sophie, Egger Oswald, Palme Pia

Entstehungsjahr: 2009

Dauer: 29m

Genre(s): Neue Musik

Gattung(en): Ensemblemusik Vokalmusik Performance Elektronische Musik

Sprache (Text): Deutsch

Besetzung: Solostimme(n) Gemischter Chor Elektronik Zuspielung

Besetzungsdetails:

SOLO: Mezzosopran (1, mit Mikrophon und Kopfhörer PA zur Verstärkung), Bariton (1, mit Mikrophon und Kopfhörer PA zur Verstärkung)

Gemischer Chor (100 SängerInnen), raumgreifende interdisziplinäre Installation, Elektronik bzw. Zuspielung

Art der Publikation: Manuskript

Beschreibung

"The concept behind the composition VARIETIES is to represent a snapshot of the process of spreading, unfolding and propagation, starting from a central source of sound. I started with writing a composition for mezzo-soprano and baritone. The parts were written with having the concept for the choir performing from audioscores in mind. This concept feeds back into the compositional process.

The piece, as it is heard by an audience in the end, is created through the performance of the two soloists and the vocal productions of the choir singers, who follow instructions given for their performance.

The instructions ask for vocal sound to be passed on, from the soloists to the lead singers of the choir via headphones, and from one singer to the next one by ear, throughout the choir who is arranged in two lines.

It is important that the vocalists sing simultaneously with hearing, there should be as little delay as possible. The instruction is: Do not wait until you completely grasp what you hear, just sing on the spot. Synchrony is more important than correct reproduction. Thus, the choir does not need written music; singing happens by hearing. Conducting is redundant here – this was part of my concept, too.

My aim was to create a fuzzy, ambient-like vocal layer. I wanted an effect of delay and erosion. I come from electronic music, and here I wanted to achieve a 'biological' delay and erosion. (The fruit also change as they are interbred, into so many different appearances, in all kinds of colours and shapes).

Arrangement of the choir in space is essential and should be carefully planned for the venue, following the sketch. The soloists should stand at a maximum distance from the choir (if possible, not even in view of the choir – around a corner, for example). The distance between the soloists and the body of the choir opens up space for the audience to move into, or stand still. Every listener in the audience actively creates her or his own mix of sounds: an individual ambient (Lat. ambire = walking around)."

Pia Palme (2009)

Uraufführung

29. August 2009 - Wien, MAK

Veranstaltung: MAK NITE©

Mitwirkende: Annette Schönmüller (Mezzosopran), Johann Leutgeb (Bariton), Irene Pichlhöfer (spatial Ikebana installation), Electric Indigo (Elektronik), Christina Bauer (sound design), Gartenbauschule Schönbrunn and DI Wolfgang Palme (fruit production, horticultural aspects), Wolfgang Reisinger and Hotelfachschule Modul (food design and cooking), Pia Palme (Konzept, Regie, Elektronik), Caroline Hofer (Chor-Organisation)

Weitere Informationen: developed for the MAK Museum of Applied Art Vienna

Aufnahme

Titel: VARIETIES @ MAK NITE - 09-09-29

Plattform: Vimeo

Herausgeber: Palmeworks

Datum: 15 Januar 2014

Aufnahme

Titel: VARIETIES remix

Plattform: SoundCloud

Herausgeber: palmeworks

Datum: 19 August 2010

---

© 2025. Alle Rechte vorbehalten. Medieninhaber: mica - music austria | über die Musikdatenbank | Impressum