Beschreibung

"This is an experimental work. It offers a variety of possibilities for performance for vocal ensembles.

The title is a Latin word combination: cantus means sound, song, also chant and magic spell (magic in the antique sense of the word: something that changes, transforms an environment). The adjective foliatus means folded, having many leaves or folds, or pages, like a book, a tree - or mille-feuille pastry.

The endings cantu foliato denote the Ablative case, which expresses "by use of" or "through". So the title could be translated to: "with folded sound", or otherwise "through manifold song" - I like the different possibilities.

This is a sketch which is being revised and rebuilt. In May 2012 had the opportunity to conduct rehearsals, experiments and try two different performance structures with the excellent British vocal-ensemble EXAUDI. It's a pleasure to work with such singers."

Pia Palme (2012)
